Growing with Children's Imagination and Development

A Next-Generation Educational Exercise Tool: "Sekaiichi no Hashi"

> We are not just a exercise tool manufacturer. We are also educators who work directly with children in the field every day.

> > Drawing on this experience, we offer workshops for educators on how to use "Sekaiichi no Hashi" safely and effectively.

These workshops not only expand children's potential but also greatly enhance teachers' creativity and the range of their teaching methods.

Packed with ideas and setups that can be adapted for children with all kinds of characteristics, our program helps educators create joyful and engaging experiences. Join us, and become an educator who can bring out the fullest potential in every child.

Kids can think and reorganize it.

It can improve body balance and develop imagination.

We can use it differently according to age and development, and it is good to be able to experience various movements of the whole body.

It doesn't take long to assemble, and it is good to change the combination each time according to the kids.
